TOP MESSAGE

JSR Group's corporate mission is "Materials Innovation" - "We create value through materials to enrich society, people and the environment." Since our foundation as Japan's first manufacturer of synthetic rubber in 1957, we have kept that mission. . We are a precision technology company that enables scientific advances and realizes their practical applications. Guided by our corporate mission combined with our focus on emerging science and technology, JSR Group has built trust relationships with our valued stakeholders.

Our world faces disruptive pressures spanning environmental, geopolitical, business and technical impacts. JSR Group's quest is to solve the most demanding technical challenges to achieve the best possible outcome for our customers and society. We approach this quest through a culture of curiosity, openness, and adaptability. The cornerstone of our corporate culture is precisely the ethical value of acting with "the highest integrity". To remain a trusted partner for our valued stakeholders, it is of utmost importance that we all "do the right thing" in accordance with this value.

Our Corporate Code of Conduct, which is specified in the JSR Group Principles of Corporate Ethics, serves as a guideline for all JSR Group employees. It specifies our responses, actions and procedures that enable us to conduct our business activities with "the highest integrity" according to laws and regulations as well as ethics.

You can use this code of conduct as a guideline, but no code of conduct can cover all possible situations. Ultimately, your integrity and decision to "do the right thing" are the foundations of our company. If you have any doubts about ethics and compliance, or if you witness a violation, please do not hesitate to speak up.

JSR Group's Sustainability Advancement Structure

Advancement Structure

The Corporate Ethics Committee spearheads compliance activities (corporate ethics activities). The Committee is responsible for monitoring the Group's legal compliance, follow-up, and advancement of respecting human rights.

United Nations Global Compact

On April 2009, the JSR Group became a participant in the Global Compact policy advocated by the United Nations. Amidst increasing calls for corporate social responsibility, further consideration is required of firms engaged in business activities on a global scale in respect to human rights, labor, the environment and anti-corruption, as expressed in the ten principles of the Global Compact. We consider joining the Global Compact to be a proclamation for acting responsibly in the international community, and we intend to work hard to proactively execute our “corporate social responsibility.”

The 10 Principles of the United Nations Global Compact

- ① Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights.
- ② Businesses should make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.
- ③ Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining.
- ④ Businesses should uphold the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labour.
- ⑤ Businesses should uphold the effective abolition of child labour.
- ⑥ Businesses should uphold the elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation.
